ATTACKS PRIMARY.

Pastor Spooner Vigorously Denounces "Political Lawlessness."

From the text "My Kingdom is Not of This World," John 18:36, Rev. George H ner, paster of Broad Street M. E. Church, preached a sermon summy aight on the political situation growing out of the late Democratic primary here. Caus-tic, sarcastic and full of seathing invective, he invoked the power and con-science of the people to stand for the right and to put down such convictions of political rottonness as have in the last few days been brought to light.

Blot On Record.

"Political fawlessness is a blot on our second and a menace to our safety; a cachment of the standing army culled ut to suppress a mob that wanted to ake the law in its own hands; a court i regular session guarded by milital in right of the session guarded by milital in the public money and taking graft open defiance to decency and honsy; and now the astouding proposition i made that "my construction of the two frees me from guilt." The right on the public money and taking gran; open defiance to decency and honesty; and now the astouding proposition is made that "my construction of or law frees me from guilt." The right of the free citizen to express the Constitution. To have that will fairly expressed and fairly received is also his right; and, further of Democracy, and if that will is aloned of the rights. To deberately plan and wilfully execute such a plan and wilfully execute such as criminal and traitorous, we cannot too strongly safeguard our laws and institutions. The love of money, the ambition to rise and succeed is more and more bilinding the public mind to the sanctity of the law and deafens its ear to the authoritative voice of the court, in which alone is vested the right of statutory construction.

"If the pulpit is not to deal with civir rightcousness and exalted citizenship, as brought about by the power of the Gospel, where will it be taught? Certain papers condone this crime and call it in indiscretion, but what defence of law and propagation of mora runt, can you expect from such a pen?

Rev. William E. Evans, D. D., rector of his farewell sermon Sunday prior to leaving for his vacation.

Monumental Episcopal Church, preached his farewell sermon Sunday prior to leaving for his vacation.

The service was in the nature of an anniversary review of his five years pastorate. In referring to the work accomplished since he had become rector, he said that three hundred and fifty members had been admitted to membership in the church. In mentioning the late Dr. Fenner S. Stickney in connection with the history of the church, he said that it was under Dr. Stickney that the first surplice choir was organized in this city.

The church is in a prosperous condition, both spiritually and financially.

Dr. Evans will return from his vacation by September 1st.

Rev. P. A. Cave, paster of Third Christian Church, who has been spending the summer since July 5th in Westville, Mathews county, was present again in the pulpit of Third Christian Church. His subject was "An Apostle's Greeting."

Upon the urgent request of his congregation Mr. Cave has decided to withdraw his resignation, handed in last June.

NEWS GATHERED FROM SOUTHSIDE

Dr. Rucker States That Compulsory Vaccination is Nearly Done.

TO-NIGHT MANN

Large Crowd Expected - Mrs Laura Brooks Dead-Swanson in Town.

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch, l No. 1102 Hull Street. I The Health Committe met last night to receive the report of Dr. E. T. Rucker. noting president.

to the recent smallpox outbreak, including the one presented by the Richmond authorities for taking care of the cases sent to them from Manchester. The bills were all approved and ordered paid by the committee.

Dr. Rucker stated that Manchester is now entirely free from the dread scourge and that there had not been a case for four weeks. Compulsory vaccination is now about completed, and the city has been put in better sanitary condition than it has enjoyed for some years.

Dr. Rucker' says that the conditions now are such that he entertains not the slightest fear of another outbreak. The possible source of danger now, that is getting more remote every day, he continued, is from the outside. With-in herself Manchester is clean; outside may or may not be sources of contami-nation. Judge Mann To-night.

The Mann Club of Swansboro is all agog with great preparation for the reception of Judge Mann to-night. The club has been working some time to have this gubernatorial candidate to address the voters of Manchester and Swansboro, and now their efforts are about to be rewarded in the most appreciable manner. ciable manner.

The list of vice-chairmen has not yet ing come in on a Norfolk and Western train from Ivor. Suffolk and neighboring points on the main line of that road. Another excursion from Petersburg brought a large party. The visitors were conspicuous in the Capitol Square, where they practically monopolized the benches, eating their "snacks" or chatting in couples. In the colored section of the city also, old Jackson Ward, hundreds of the visitors made their headquarters. Bands of music enlivened the ward, and altogether it was a great day in negro circles. The visitors were generally orderly and well behaved. Almost all of them returned to their homes in the evening. The list of vice-chairmen has not yet seen completed, but that it will number some of the leading citizens of Manchester and Swansbore is assured. Captain C. A. Blankenship will preside, and Mr. M. A. Campbell has been selected to introduce the speaker.

The committee is confident that a large crowd will be present to hear Judge Mann and they predict a hearty welcome.

While the Mann and Willard followers are putting up a strenuous fight in favor of their respective candidates, the Swanson men are not left behind.

Mr. Swanson was in town yesterday for several hours, interviewing his friends and taking a view of the situation. He was with Mr. Ben P. Owens most of the line.

this city for Thursday, August 3d, at noon is being vigorously criticised by some fepublicans. The meeting is to be held at Johnson's Hall on North Foushee Street. The action of the chairman is regarded as likely to reopen the old factional breach in the local party ranks. It is contended that at this hour few of the substantial men of the party can attend, and the few who may be idle or able to get off at that unusual hour would dominate the convention. Richmond is entitled to only six or seven delegates to the State Convention at Roanoke, August 8th. Another interesting development in the Republican situation is the agreement on the part of many of the colored Republicans of this city to refrain from particle Owens said last night that Mr. son had a host of followers in hester and that he would easily danchester and the darry of the laurels.

Richmond Team Drubbed Them.

Norfolk is far from satisfied with the drubbing given its base-ball nine by the Champlon Brownies some days ago, and that city by the sea wil' to-day send an aggregation of ball-olegists here that will at least make it interesting for the spectators. The game is scheduled for 430 o'dlock.

The team coming here will be a stronger one than was pitted against the Champlons of the State at the Norfolk games, The Brownies won three straights from the Collegians on strange grounds, and the members of the nine serious did not be straight own with the grand stand yelling for them.

Norfolk's nine will be given a reception here that will be greatly different from the reception tendered the Richmond players in Norfolk. Peters Can Serve.

The fact that Grand Juror Robert Lee Peters was a witness for one of the candidates of the countlof votes at his precinct in Madison Ward will in no way affect his service as a "juror," according to the statement of Judgo Witthand Commonwealth's Attorney Richardson. On the contrary, his service in no way disqualfies him for grand jury service, but rather makes him more valuable. He may be a witness before the grand jury as woll as a juror, and, in fact, grand jurors were originally summoned to tell what they knew or suspected concerning violations of the laws. That he served as a watcher or witness of the count in his precinct in no way affects his entire qualification to serve.

Personal Liberty Run Riot.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch is right in saying that you can't sell 'pure whiskey for five cents a glass," and the man who can't afford to buy pure whiskey ought not to be allowed to buy any. Personal liberty should not be permitted to run right in society.—Farmylile Herald.

OLD HOME MEETING AT EPHESUS CHURCH

A Gathering in Essex County Marked By Delightful Features.

Grecial to The Times-Dispatch.)

DUNNSVILLE, V.A. July 31.—The "Old Home Meeting" at Ephesus Buptist Church on Sunday, the 30th instant, was a great success in numbers as well as in religious zeal and friendly greeting. There was perhaps the largest gathering ever seen at that church. An old-fashion dinner was served on the tables in the grove of oaks, and such was the hearty welcome extended by the members to all that none went away hungry. The spread was really 'sumptuous, and represented the best that field and garden and orchard, as well as the river, could supply. Rev. Mr. Kerford, the minister in charge, conducted the exercises. The song service was among the many attractive exercises of the day's programme. Miss Elizabeth V. Crenshaw of Portsmouth, and Miss Winston, of St. Paul, Minn., thrilide the congregation with their beautiful solos. A quartette, composed of the Phillips brothers and Misses Crenshaw and Ware, rendered a lovely selection. Mr. L. A. Coulter, of the Y. M. C. A., of Virginia, delivered an address in the morning, taking as his subject, "I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel."

There was a "men's meeting" in the grove immediately after dinner, and a "ladles" meeting" in the church at the same hou.

The afternoon service consisted of de-

"ladles' meeting" in the churen at the same hour.

The afternoon service consisted of delightful short speeches by the older members of the church, and by some from a distance, who once were members of Ephesus. Mrs. Fannle Bagby, of West Point, delivered an interesting address, and the early history of the origin and growth of the church by Mr. R. C. Philips, of Tappahannock, and an address by Hon. William Campbell, along the same line, were both entertaining and instructive.

The church was organized in 1844, and Rev. Mr. Evans, the father of Judge Brown Evans, of Middlesex, was the first paster. Rev. Howard Montague, the father of Professor Andrew Montague, was the next pastor, and remained in the fathful service until 1855. The late Rev. A. F. Scott was pastor of Ephesus for many years. Mrs. Fanny Bagby, of West Point, and Mrs. R. W. Eubank, of this county, are daughters of Mr. Scott, and are both very zealous in church work. Among the visiting members were Dr. George Oliver, of Irvington, and Mr. Joshua Williams, of Millford. Both of these gentlemen delivered touching little addresses, replete with reminiscences of their early years.

Judge Thomas E. Blakey, of Tappahannock; Professor B. J. Saunders, of Loyds; Judge H. L. Newbill, of Montague, were among the many present from other sections of the county, and Dr. B. P. Wright, of Upper-Essex. Much credit is due to Mr. W. J. Phillips, of Tappahannock for this delightful meeting of the present and former members of Ephesus. This gentleman planned it all, and the indies of the church accepted his plans and nobly did their part in growiding a repast for such a large gatherling.
